Pasta Lovers Can Grab Lunch Weekdays at Bibiana's Sleek Bar and Lounge for $15

Washington, D.C. (October 13, 2010) – Bibiana is pleased to announce the addition of a new fixed price fall lunch menu at the 24-seat lounge and 12-seat bar at 1100 New York Ave, NW (entrance on 12th and H Streets), in the heart of downtown Washington.

Executive Chef Nicholas Stefanelli is showcasing house-made pastas complemented with a glass of Italian wine followed by Bibiana's seasonal sorbet flavor of the day, all for just $15 (excluding tax and gratuity.) This option is available Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

While Stefanelli's pasta menu is constantly rotating to provide diners with tempting options, delectable choices include Bucatini alla Matriciana rich with guanciale, red onion, chili, pecorino, and tomato, as well as the Paccheri alla Trapanese with large rigatoni, cauliflower, pine nuts, and golden raisins. Wine options include Botromagno 'Gravina' Malvasia, Greco Puglia 08 and Coppai Sangiovese, Cabernet S. Supertuscan 06. The complete Pranzo Al Bar menu follows and Italian sodas are available for those whose who do not wish to savor wine with lunch.
